

COACH BARRY LUNNEY

Is Bentonville the new elite football program in the state?

BACK TO SCHOOL!

Trendy fashions & supplies for every age.

celebrate

arkansas magazine

The Dream Realized

DAMIAN WILLIAMS

Playing on Sundays

After the controversy at Arkansas and transfer to USC, he proves against all odds that determination and hard work can pay off as he is drafted into the NFL by the Tennessee Titans

>> OUTDOOR CAP

CEO Paul Mahan talks about the success of his growing company

S.I.F.E.

Preparing tomorrow's leaders as they launch into the corporate world

What's Going On in Northwest Arkansas & Beyond }

Above: Terry & Gwen Matthews with daughters Brittany and Brooke. Bottom Left: Laurie Callahan, Sue & Marissa Spear. Bottom Right: The Kimberly-Clark Team. David Garcia, Trey Srygley, Tom Waryas, Gina Wallace, Pam Ramaker

PRENATAL CARE

The Beau Foundation held its annual Prenatal Charity Luncheon on July 12 at Pinnacle Hills Country Club in Rogers. The foundation was created by Terry and Gwen Matthews in memory of their late son, Beau Alexander Matthews, to support and promote prenatal healthcare in Northwest Arkansas. Arkansas Surgeon General Joe Thomas spoke at the event, which also featured a silent auction and raffle items. Monies raised will allow low-income and uninsured expectant mothers to gain access to quality prenatal care in Northwest Arkansas.