

CitiScapes

NORTHWEST ARKANSAS

Metro Monthly

The Growth Issue

- ▶ Sustainability:
Ecology vs. Economy
- ▶ Green Up Your Life
- ▶ Driving Green
- ▶ Organic Fashions
- ▶ Green Reading

plus:

- Inside the Arkansas World Trade Center
- Fayetteville Arts Festival Preview
- Men's Health Hot Topics

Northwest
Arkansas
Going
Green

AUGUST 2007
$2.50 VALUE

4th Annual Beau Classic Golf Tournament & Prenatal Charity Luncheon

It is the hope of Terry and Gwen Matthews that with better access to proper prenatal health care, Northwest Arkansas will have fewer special needs children.

And on July 9, the couple continued pressing toward their goal and raised more than $135,000 at the 4th Annual Prenatal Charity Luncheon & Golf Tournament held at Pinnacle Country Club.

Four years ago Terry and Gwen created The Beau Foundation in memory of their late son, Beau Alexander Matthews. Beau lived just 11 days after his birth because of a chromosomal abnormality. The foundation helps low-income women receive prenatal care (one of the most pressing issues facing Northwest Arkansas) through a partnership between local physicians.

For more information, call (479) 254-3696

▲ Gwen Matthews and Cathy Gordon

▲ Karen McDonald, Kathy Grisham, Cambre Horne-Brooks, Carol Whisenant

▲ Willow Creek COO Tad Hatton, Sally Grace, and Gary Looper, CEO Northwest Health System

▲ Carmen Sandor, Sonya Cates, Madeline Dunning, Kelly Brain

Arkansas Athletes Outreach Par-Tees Like it's Game Day

On July 12, Arkansas Athletes Outreach (AAO) hosted "Par-Tee Like It's Game Day" at the Embassy Suites Hotel in conjunction with the Houston Nutt Golf Classic. AAO Executive Director Brad Friess and his wife Debbie mingled with partygoers as guests bid on auction items and Razorback football coach Houston Nutt signed autographs.

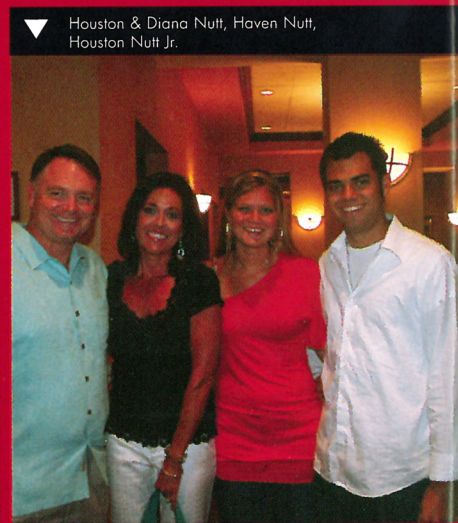

The hotel ballroom was filled with some 500 guests and raised more than $200,000 for AAO. This year, Kevin Shipp of General Mills received the Heart of a Champion Sponsor Award.

AAO helps develop Razorback athletes into positive role models through their mission of "building champions for life." Through AAO, athletes are doing community service projects, mentoring, public speaking, hospital visitations and much more.

For more information about Arkansas Athletes Outreach, please visit www.aaoteam.org.

▼ Richard LaFargue, Brad & Debbie Friess, Robert Farrell, Kevin Canfield

▼ Houston & Diana Nutt, Haven Nutt, Houston Nutt Jr.

▼ Greg & Patty Purdy, Steve Larkin, Kay & Dick Graves

▼ Chip Gregory, Charles Alexander, Matt Hewitt, Reggie Fish, Van Stuman, Marcus Carruthers